

VUS.10a

1. All of the following are examples of challenges to traditional values in the 1920's except –

- A the Scopes Trial.
- B flappers.
- C the rise of the Ku Klux Klan.
- D Prohibition.

VUS.10a

2. All of the following were examples of mass media in the 1920's except –

- A radio.
- B television.
- C newspapers.
- D movies.

VUS.10a

3. In the 1920's, one of the challenges to the traditional U.S. policy of open immigration was –

- A the Scopes Trial.
- B flappers.
- C the rise of the Ku Klux Klan.
- D speakeasies.

VUS.10a

4. During the 1930's, movies like The Wizard of Oz and the Marx Brothers comedies–

- A introduced Americans to new music like jazz.
- B provided an escape from Depression-era realities.
- C shaped cultural norms.
- D challenged traditional values.

VUS.10a

5. Which of the following did Franklin Roosevelt use during the Great Depression to communicate with the American people?

- A Hollywood movies
- B Life magazine
- C radio fireside chats
- D television addresses

VUS.10d

31. The Great Depression changed the relationship between the economy and the government in what way?

- A Government control of businesses and rationing of consumer goods.
- B Rise of new industries and growth of mass consumption of products.
- C The creation of government agencies to regulate the economy.
- D The stock market crash and bank failures led to more money in circulation.

VUS.10d

32. Which has been a lasting reform of the New Deal programs?

- A reduction of the national debt
- B achievement of stability in the stock market
- C unification of business and labor support around the President
- D federal responsibility for the welfare of all citizens

VUS.10d

33. How did the Social Security Act affect the economy?

- A It offered safeguards for workers.
- B It broke up big business monopolies.
- C It regulated interstate commerce.
- D It replaced the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.